nam & the environment

National Art Materials has both a moral and commercial reason to play its part in improving the world we live in. Some things we are able to do better than others while some areas need ongoing research and further adaptation.

The Company is now carbon neutral through Greenfleet, whereby all carbon generated by company cars, power used to light and heat our offices and airline trips carried out by NAM staff are offset through our membership of Greenfleet, who will plant native trees on our behalf (for more information visit www.greenfleet.com.au).

Such actions are seen as a part of an ongoing commitment by the company to review our business practices in an effort to be an environmentally and socially responsible corporate citizen.
